Cutting Horse Competition Added At Fair

TULARE — Cutting horse competition has been added this year as a new department in the horse division of the Tulare County fair, with Kenny Beck, of Tipton, to serve as judge and to also present a cutting horse demonstration.

The event is scheduled for Tuesday, September 18 - the opening day of the 1973 fair - with competition in cutting classes to start at 2 p.m. The five finalists will put on a demonstration at 8 p.m.

Entries close September 7; there will be no post entries and no refunds in accordance with rules as stated in the fair premium book.

Entry fee in open cutting class is $25 per horse with an office charge of $10, making a total of $35 that must accompany each entry. In a novice cutting class, entry fee is $20 per horse with an office charge of $10, making a total of $30 that must accompany each entry.

Paint Flying At Fair Grounds

TULARE — With "Carrousel Of Color" as theme for the 1973 Tulare County Fair, painting is now a major item of business on the fair grounds in anticipation of official opening of the fair on Tuesday, September 18.

"We're doing a lot of painting - inside buildings and outside," says Fair Manager Al Slinde, "both as regular maintenance and in keeping with this year's fair theme."

"And adding color also will be new lawn that we seeded in the spring and that will cover the entire carnival midway area."

COUNTY DAY AUG. 31 AT THE STATE FAIR

Friday, August 31, has been designated as Tulare County day at the California State fair in Sacramento, with a special horse race on that day's program named in honor of the county. County officials will be in the winner's circle at the race track and will also participate in a parade at 6:30 p.m.

Canterbelles Ride Saturday In State Show

PORTERVILLE — Porterville's all-girl riding team, the Canterbelles, will compete Saturday afternoon for junior drill team honors at the California State Horsemen's association show now underway in Santa Rosa.

Three years ago the Canterbelles retired the junior drill team trophy after winning the state championship for three consecutive years. Now they are back on the championship trail again under direction of Emmy Kibler.

The horsemen's show at Santa Rosa is an eight-day event with more than 2,000 horses entered, and with events scheduled all eight days and evenings in five arenas.

Junior drill team competition is one of the events of the total show; senior mounted drill team competition is set for Saturday evening.

John Keck, of The Farm Tribune, will serve as one of the judges for junior competition. He is a former director of the Canterbelles.

DIVERGENT INTERESTS, OPINIONS THREATEN DEVELOPMENT OF STATE WATER PROJECTS DEVELOPMENT

VISALIA — Additional water programs definitely are needed in California but the big question at the moment is whether people want them, according to the new federal Commissioner of Reclamation, Gilbert G. Stamm.

Stamm said at the annual meeting of Friant Water Users association in Visalia that the future of water resource development has been obscured by a combination of environmental concerns, budget considerations, and indefinable public attitudes.

Reports now being circulated in California are criticizing irrigated agriculture as contributing to crop surpluses at the very time serious food shortages show these reports to be unfounded, he said.

The contentions of environmentalists in their "defense" of the environment too often are extreme and lacking in balance, Stamm stated.

He added that the Bureau has found a welter of divergent interests and opinions regarding water development, and believes California must come more into agreement before Congress is likely to adopt a future water program for the state.

The Bureau plans to hold public meetings in the next few months to gauge public sentiments on specific project proposals, he said.

"It is my considered opinion that water resource development is not dead, it is merely adjusting to change. The facts are that population is growing and people will continue to have a fundamental need for water."

Stamm said the East Side (Continued On Page 12)

Horton, acting director, mid-Pacific region of the Bureau of Reclamation.

TRADITIONAL PIONEER REUNION IS PLANNED FOR VETERANS' DAY

PORTERVILLE — Traditional pioneer tea and reunion will again be hosted by the Tule Vista Parlor of the Native Daughters of the Golden West as a feature of Porterville's Veterans' Day and Homecoming celebration October 22.

Evylyn Hall, Native Daughters president, says that lunch will be served in the Porterville high school cafeteria for pioneers and the public at noon, following the morning Homecoming parade. The reunion of former residents, pioneers, and present residents of Porterville will follow the lunch.

Plans are also being completed for annual stock car racing at the Rocky Hill Speedway, under direction of the Rocky Hill Racing Association, headed by Bob Poteet. An effort will be made to have Richard Brooks, Porterville race driver who last week won the Talledega 500 in Alabama, as honored guest during the Veterans' day celebration.

Two other events are also now being planned, special memorial recognition for Porterville men who gave their lives in Viet Nam; and contest for a senior and junior Homecoming queen.

Next meeting of the Veterans' Homecoming committee is set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, August 20, in the American Legion hall.

Editorial Comment

By MIKE ABRAMSON

"THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the Secretary of the Interior be requested to resume oil and gas leasing and development in the Santa Barbara Channel under the most stringent regulations to protect and preserve the natural and aesthetic values of the environment. . . ."

That quote comes from a resolution passed recently by a major statewide organization.

No, not an oil and gas or other industrial association, but one of the state's most prestigious and effective conservation groups, the California Wildlife Federation.

An affiliate of the National Wildlife Federation, which has few peers in longevity, respect and achievement among conservation-oriented organizations, the California Federation has never fallen into the ideological trap that seems to have snared so many of them. As CWF president Harold Hochmuth puts it:

"We note with a bit of apprehension that some of our environmentalist friends are developing an orthodoxy which does not brook challenge. Doctrinaire positions are taken on many issues and contrary thoughts are not to be seriously entertained."

"We do not like to see a situation where an environmentalist group takes a position and it is expected that all others fall in line. The environmental movement creates a credibility gap when this happens."

"We believe, with few exceptions, that there is no one best solution to each environmental problem with which civilization is faced. There is need for a large amount of dialogue, research, testing, collation, and even compromise before positions are taken. Too frequently there is an inclination to shoot from the hip and injure the people in whose cause we have enlisted."

The resolution advocating renewed exploitation of the "known major undeveloped deposit of gas and oil in the sea bed of Santa Barbara Channel" is a prime example of well-thought-out Federation advocacy in an area that has almost been insulated from discussion by die-hard conservationists.

It recognizes the nation's and state's "deficit position in energy production" and argues that great technological advances in drilling and control, and in rehabilitation from temporary environmental degradation make recovery of such offshore energy resources totally viable, and in no way to be compared with the permanently damaging processes of strip mining or the damming of wild rivers.

Then the Federation offers its pro-environmental clincher, pointing out that in oil and gas leasing in upland public lands more than half the receipts are earmarked for the Reclamation Fund. For the outer Continental Shelf, however, 100 percent goes to the federal general fund. Since "environmental enhancement funds are not provided by the federal government at a level sufficient to prevent further deterioration of the environment" the Federation finally resolves:

"That the Secretary of the Interior submit appropriate legislation to the Congress which if passed will provide that for the Outer Continental Shelf 50 percent of the receipts from oil and gas leasing will be deposited to an 'Environmental Enhancement Fund' to be appropriated by the Congress for that purpose and administered by the Environmental Protection Agency."

That, as Hochmuth puts it, may not be subscribing to orthodoxy, in some environmentalists' view, but it is a most heartening evidence of willingness to look at both sides of the coin, and to be considered the "loyal opposition" in achieving "the means to get from here to there."

Political Parade

By CLEM WHITAKER JR.

It is evident to TV viewers that the Senate select committee has turned its so-called investigation of Republican campaign practices in 1972, prompted by the Watergate stupidities, into a sort of accusatory Roman circus.

Not so evident, because we don't yet have smell-o-vision, is the odor of hypocrisy emanating from the hearing room.

In a very revealing recent column Washington commentator Kevin Phillips, noting the current committee's "moralizing," reported the findings of some Senate Republican researchers which "draw a sharp contrast between the very different actions of Sam Ervin, Herman Talmadge, and Daniel Inouye when the three Senators participated in the successful Democratic effort to curb the 1964 Senate investigation of Bobby Baker before that inquiry could lead to Lyndon B. Johnson and the White House."

Parenthetically, if anyone thinks the Baker case can't be compared with Watergate, Phillips earlier had reported that an eyewitness had described "a conversation between Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker John McCormack in which LBJ said that if Bobby Baker talked, he, the President, would go to jail."

Back to Watergate's moralistic trio, Ervin, Talmadge and Inouye, Phillips recounts that in May, 1964 the Senate took up a resolution to authorize the Rules and Administration Committee, through September, to investigate Senators and all Senate employees with respect to "any financial or business interests or activities involving the giving or receiving of campaign funds under questionable circumstances."

Then the Democratic finagling began. As Senator Carl Curtis of Nebraska, who had been the ranking Republican member on that Rules committee said recently: "Some of the Democrats indulged in cover-ups—blocking the investigation, refusing to call witnesses, and doing everything possible to prevent the truth from coming out. We needed the testimony of a White House official whose name was Walter Jenkins. We never did get it."

Although as Phillips says, Ervin, Talmadge and Inouye "have frequently expressed themselves on the immorality of covering up and subordinating illegalities, to the political needs of a presidential campaign," they evidently felt differently about it a decade earlier when their party was the target.

First they voted or announced against an amendment to a resolution permitting any three members to call witnesses.

Next they voted or announced in favor of Mike Mansfield's motion to table, hence kill, the whole investigation.

When in September the matter came up again, the trio voted or announced to prevent Republicans from getting the investigation into a different committee since Rules and Administration was chaired by Senator B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, a political ally of South Carolinian Bobby Baker.

Four other votes followed, intended to strengthen the investigation or expand it. The Republicans lost all four, with Wynken, Blynken and Nod—pardon, Ervin, Talmadge and Inouye—voting or announcing to limit and restrict the inquiry.

That, of course, was 1964, and the Democrats were in the soup.

This is 1973, the Year of Sanctimony.

Rocks, No Rock

There would be no rock music among the rocks and trees, the greensward and the beach of the new 1000-acre Pt. Pinole Regional Park near Oakland, if Lewis P. Crutcher, a department chief in the East Bay Regional Park District could have his way.

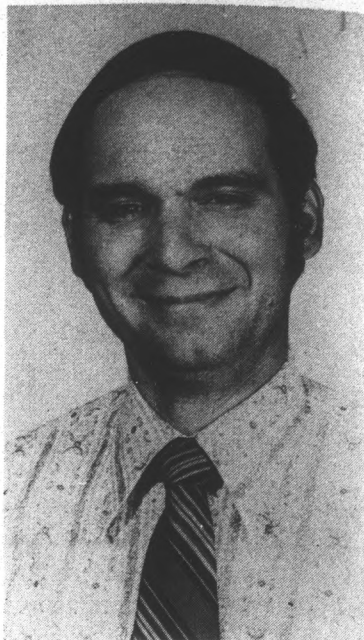

Crutcher told a recent meeting of the District board:

"There is a nostalgic cry for the wilderness experience today—getting away from the hubbub of everyday life. In a temporal way we can, in effect, stop the clock and the world and allow park visitors to step off into a quality of remoteness. They can get away from everyday immediacy."

Unless, he warned, the sounds from transistor radios are allowed to compete with the sounds of "the breeze in the trees or the waves on the beach."

Crutcher allowed as how it might not be so bad if all radio-bearing visitors to Pt. Pinole Park wore earphones, or perhaps tuned in only on Bach, but questioned the probability factor.

The Board allowed as how his suggestion might have merit, but reluctantly questioned its feasibility. And took no action.

KENNETH DELFINO, now stationed in Los Angeles, has been appointed unit forester of the California Division of Forestry to serve Tulare, Fresno, and Kern counties. He will be in charge of advisory work in land management, will inspect forest harvesting operations, and will assist school personnel in environmental education programs. His office will be in the Visalia CDF headquarters. Delfino attended Bakersfield college and is a graduate of Humboldt State college in forest management. He and his wife, Rosemary, who are third generation Bakersfield residents, will move to Visalia this month with their two children, a son and daughter.

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

LAURA MITCHEL, Canoga Park—"The press is aware that the freedom protected by the Constitution is not a freedom granted just to publishers, editors, reporters, etc. (but) a freedom in trust—a protection given an institution to allow it to serve the public."

MICHAEL McCONE, S.F., ex-Peace Corps director, now art museum exec. — "I am basically a very straight person. I love my wife and work hard."

College Offers Evening Classes In Aviation

PORTERVILLE — As a result of sweeping changes in Federal Aviation Administration requirements covering training, testing and certification in virtually all categories, Porterville college will again offer evening classes in aviation beginning September 11 and 13.

The FAA changes, which will become effective November 1, will increase the flight time requirements for a commercial pilot certificate from 200 to 250 hours and require an instrument rating for all commercial pilots other than for agricultural flying.

Private Pilot refresher and Commercial Pilot class will be held Tuesday nights, 7 to 10 p.m. in room LA-6, beginning September 11; Instrument Pilot course will meet Thursday nights, 7 to 10 p.m. in room LA-6, beginning September 13.

Instructor for both courses will be Bertha Coe, an FAA instrument pilot examiner with over 7600 hours of flight time gained in 23 years of experience.

Production of California's 10 major field crops this season is now estimated at eight percent below last year.

California grape production this season is now forecast at 3,420,000 tons, up 51 percent from last year.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

I really felt like a traitor, but I just had to see Estha Mae Hinton on some very important business. I walked into the offices of that other OUR TOWN newspaper. There at the end of the room sitting at a huge desk was Art Thrall. He greeted me in his usual quiet way and said he was retiring. Now I know Art and he is about as retiring as a white tornado. He didn't mean that kind of retiring. He's really going to retire. He and Ann are quitting the working business and are going to get in their fancy trailer and see the world. Imagine, retiring when he was paid for doing the things he did with his flash bulbs. He was paid real money too. Not pencils, like some newspaper people I know.

Art and Estha Mae and Willetta Regan sit in this elegant room at real desks and have a lovely time. They have pencils, paper, scissors, glue and telephones and all kinds of newspaper things. I was so jealous. No one yelled at them, and the air conditioner hummed and kept things cool. There were two other good looking young men in the room also, but no one introduced me and I was hurt. It would have been good for those young men to meet a real newspaper woman. A woman paid in pencils. Pencils with teeth marks on them.

Oliver and Mildred Mason took their camper way up the Alcan Highway to Dawson. Randy went along to do the driving, and driving on the Alcan is something, a good driver is a must. They had a great trip. Going up Highway 97 and coming back on Highway 99. The weather was perfect and they only spent two nights in motels because their camper has everything. They even camped along the side of roads when they wanted to, which is something we can't do in OUR STATE.

Winnie Cole went to Germany for three weeks to visit relatives. It rained every day but she didn't care. Her relatives took her everywhere to see everything. One of the things that impressed Winnie was the way they drive in Germany. No speed limit, the faster you go the better. Of course the accident rate in Germany is murder. After the driving, Winnie was glad to get on the nice smooth 747. On the way home she took some wonderful pictures of the ice flows this side of Iceland, and to make it more exciting, a man had a heart attack two hours out of Los Angeles. Other than that, the trip was perfect, thanks to the Hanson Travel Agency. Winnie is one American who went to Germany we don't have to worry about. So many of the Americans are so awful. Why don't they stay home if they want things to be as they are at home. Europe is so delightful just as it is, and soft toilet tissue isn't all that necessary.

Happiness is Winnie enjoying Germany.

BARN THEATER PLANS TO STAGE EIGHT NEW PLAYS

PORTERVILLE — The Barn Theater board of directors has announced eight plays for the coming season, the largest and most ambitious program in more than a decade.

First play will be Woody Allen's smash hit comedy, "Butterflies Are Free," opening September 21, followed by "Who's Afraid of Virginia Wolfe," October 19; "The House of Blue Leaves," November 23; "Jacques Brell Is Alive and Living In Paris," January 25; "Purlie Victorious," March 1; "Andersonville Trial," April 12; and "Happy Birthday, Wanda June," May 17.

The eighth show, a large summer production, will be announced at a later date. Each play will run the usual three weekends on Friday and Saturday evenings.

As in the past, season tickets will be offered for five shows. "The larger season," says Board

President Carl Driver, "gives us a chance to offer a greater variety than would otherwise be possible."

"We have purposely stayed away from choosing old favorites. Great though they are, they have, almost without exception, been done too much. Not one of these plays we plan to stage has been done at the Barn before, while three have been released to Community theatre only this year."

High School Attendance Boundary Remains The Same As Last Year

PORTERVILLE — Attendance boundaries in the Porterville Union High School district will be the same for the 1973-1974 school year as those which have been in effect during the past several years.

Students living south and east of the boundary line are required to attend Porterville High School. Those living north and west of the boundary line will attend high school on the Monache campus.

Starting at the south end of the high school district, the boundary line follows old Highway 65 through Ducor and Terra Bella to Avenue 112. It then jogs west to Freeway 65, which it follows north to Grand avenue in Porterville.

At Grand avenue the line goes east on Grand to the Southern Pacific railroad tracks. The boundary line then follows Doris avenue east to Second street, then jogs south again to Grand avenue and continues east to the foothills.

Anyone having a question about which school they are to attend may call 784-7000 and ask for Carl Faller or E.R. Berryhill, principals of the Porterville and Monache High schools, respectively.

Bus Stops Same As Last Year On First Day Of School Sept. 4

PORTERVILLE — Bussing of all elementary district and all high school district students will be under the direction of the Porterville Public Schools transportation department, according to Jacob Rankin, assistant superintendent in charge of business services.

On the first day of school, stops will be made at the same locations as those made on the last day of school in June, but stops may be revised during the opening weeks of school.

Rankin urges all parents of bus pupils to have their children ride the bus on opening day of school, Tuesday, September 4. This will be helpful in eliminating many of the transportation problems which may occur during the first week of school, he said.

Pupils in kindergarten through grade six are to be transported by bus if they live more than one mile from their school. Junior high and high school students are eligible for bus transportation if they live more than a mile and one-half from their school.

All bus pupils will receive a special bulletin which will give specific information on how students are expected to behave while riding the bus. These forms are to be signed by the parents and returned to respective schools.

Rankin said that pupils should not wait at bus stops for long periods of time. He suggests that parents check periodically to see how their children are behaving at the bus stop.

Porterville Public Schools transportation department may be reached by telephone at 784-7000.

PORTERVILLE ADULT SCHOOL OPENING SET SEPTEMBER 10

PORTERVILLE — Porterville Adult school will begin September 10, according to Dr. R.H. Chamberlain, director of adult education for the high school district.

Classes offered this term include courses required for high school graduation, elective courses for enrichment, and skill development courses for employment.

Academic classes include English, history, mathematics, science, and American problems. Special interest courses are scheduled in auto maintenance for women, ceramics, child development, classic films, driver training, horse care and training, hunter safety and income tax.

Other classes available include lapidary, geneology, portrait painting, woodworking and conversational Spanish.

Skill development courses include welding, typing, and office skills. Programs designed for handicapped adults are offered in basic education, sewing, and crafts.

New classes this year will include dairy calf raising, understanding the metric system, and the history of the Tule Indian reservation.

General Education Development Test (G.E.D.) of high school equivalency is administered by the adult school. Dr. Chamberlain stated the brochures will be mailed to last year's enrollees and that other adults may obtain brochures and information at the adult school office in the Porterville high school administration building, or by a telephone request, 784-7000, extension 14, beginning August 27.

COLLEGE WOMEN WILL FIELD A VARSITY TEAM

PORTERVILLE — For the first time in its history, Porterville college will field a women's team in a varsity sport this fall.

Dr. Allen Nelson, director of athletics, said a women's intercollegiate volleyball team, coached by Eric Berryhill, will play a schedule against teams from Merced college, West Hills college, Fresno State college, California State College at Bakersfield, and Stanislaus college.

Practice for the team will begin on Monday, August 27, the first day of classes, Nelson said. Women have competed in varsity tennis for a number of years, but in conjunction with the men's team. Volleyball will be the first varsity sport strictly for women, he said.

VISALIA — When the 1973 California State fair opens on Friday, August 24, in Sacramento, Tulare county's display will be among the 40 others from counties of California in the Counties building in the center of the giant complex of the Fair.

The rest of the display will show off the agriculture products that are grown in Tulare county.

The exhibit will be on display for the entire run of the fair, from August 24 through September 9, then at the close of the State fair will be transported to appear at the Tulare County fair, marking the first time that this has been done.

A new display is now being built for the Los Angeles fair at Pomona and will be shown there in September of this year, then will go to Sacramento for the 1974 State fair.

PROJECTS TOTALLING $635,000 UNDERWAY ON COLLEGE CAMPUS

PORTERVILLE — Three building projects with a total contract value of $635,000 are under construction at Porterville College.

Added to the college's technical-vocational facilities will be a $292,000 power technology building, located just east of the present trade and industry building. The building will house auto and agricultural mechanics primarily, and will provide a temporary location for carpentry classes.

A feature of the new structure will be an amphitheater classroom which has a revolving platform for use in demonstrating engine blocks, vehicles, and other devices during class time. The building will add over 8,600 assignable square feet to the college's total instruction. Much built-in equipment is included in the contract.

Over 5,000 square feet of new instructional space for combatives, gymnastic dance, physical therapy, indoor games for recreation training, and other related instruction will be added in the physical education addition.

The contract also calls for 4,280 square feet to be added to locker and shower areas, and for additional area for toilets, storage, and laundry areas. Total contract price for the project is $443,400.

Located near the new power technology building will be a campus maintenance, transportation, and storage building, to be constructed at a contract cost of $99,900. ## Porterville College Opens Aug. 27, One Week Earlier Than Past Years

PORTERVILLE — The start of all semester classes at Porterville College on Monday, August 27, is a week earlier than usual, according to Dr. O.H. Shires, president.

Porterville college and Bakersfield college, the two older campuses in the Kern Community College district, will initiate the "early start" this year, Dr. Shires said. Classes at Cerro Coso college at Ridgecrest, which will be operating as an independent institution for the first time this year, will begin in September.

The "early start" will make it possible to complete the first semester before classes are dismissed for the Christmas holiday on Friday, December 21.

Second semester classes will begin on January 14, 1974, and school will end on May 24, which will be approximately two weeks earlier than had a traditional calendar been adopted.

An educational advantage of the early start is the completion of the first semester before the Christmas holiday, thus eliminating the "lame duck" period which generally existed during the month of January, according to Dr. Shires. Students will have completed finals and all other course obligations before the holidays.

Early dismissal in the spring will put both Porterville and Bakersfield students in a preferred position in the summer job market, it is stated, since they will be able to start work several weeks before students involved in traditional schedules.

The Porterville College Patrons Association is spearheading the sale of the passes under the direction of Fran Torigian and Jasper Land. The passes also are available at the college administration office, college bookstore, and the Mineral King Savings and Loan, Uphoff said.

Divergent Interests

division of Central Valley project will take on increased importance from the national standpoint, as related to food shortages. He cautioned, however, it will take time for a change in philosophy at the federal level to become apparent.

He said that if the East Side project was authorized now and funded without restrictions, seven or eight years would be required to bring first deliveries of supplemental water into the area.

On the national level Stamm said the Bureau of Reclamation has a backlog of about $6.2 billion worth of authorized but uncompleted projects, the majority of which are multiple function projects that are badly needed to meet man's requirements.

"Cleaning up this project backlog within a reasonable period of time, while accepting some new projects," was listed as a top priority by Stamm.

Warren Carter of the Shafter-Wasco Irrigation district, installed as president of Friant Water Users, pledged support of the association in providing leadership to keep the Central Valley project moving forward and in seeking statewide support for it.

The retiring president, Frank Stockton of Arvin-Edison Water Storage district, said water users have feared the Reclamation Bureau has lacked aggressiveness in protecting the water reserved for CVP. Irrigation districts are increasingly concerned about renewal of their water service contracts in view of adverse decisions by the California water resources control board.

Installed as vice-president at the meeting was Rader Roberts of the Madera Irrigation district. James F. Sorensen, of Visalia, again will serve as secretary of the association.

Attending the annual meeting also were Jack Chrisman, of Visalia, chairman of the California Water commissioner; and H.E. Horton, of Sacramento, acting director of the mid-Pacific region of the bureau of reclamation.

Harvest of prunes and figs will become general in the valley about mid-August.
